Dear Bill:

Since our correspondence of August 1981 regarding assignments of mid-level CIA officers to ACDA, your staff has been very helpful in working with my staff to set in motion a program of identifying suitable candidates, and their cooperation is appreciated. Unfortunately, ACDA has had recent additional budgetary limitations placed on it. These have forced significant reductions in a number of existing ACDA programs and have left us with no flexibility at the present time to assume the costs of a new assignment program. We have therefore two alternatives: to delay any implementation of a program for reimbursable assignments of CIA officers to ACDA until these constraints are eased; or to modify our program to have the assignments made on a non-reimbursable basis. If you believe that the latter course would be in the interest of CIA we would request that the officers be assigned to one or two of ACDA's four Bureaus and work out the details with the Directorate of Intelligence. We would, for example, be willing to place two GS-15 officers into policy formulation positions directly under ACDA Bureau or Division chiefs.

Again, I very much appreciate the cooperative response of you and your staff to my initial request. If the alternative plan is a possibility, we will start work on it immediately.

Sincerely yours,

The Honorable William J. Casey
